THE TRUE POLICY.

If we could, by any argument or appeal, hope to prevail upon Congress to cease its opposition to our admission to the full enjoyment of the rights to which we are entitled, under the constitution, as citizens of the Union, and to an immediate practical recognition of those rights, how gladly would we urge such arguments and appeals. But, as the prospect of notice, and at reasonable prices. succes is, for the present, entirely hopeless, we can only do the next best thing which we can, and that is, to advise our people to leave the turbid political waters to work themselves clear, and apply themselves vigorously to the management of their material concerns. This they can do with a perfect confidence in the result. They can, by a judicious economy, repair and retrieve their losses of property, and so improve their condition as to indemnify themselves, measurably, at least, for the political buffetings which they are experiencing.— Agricultural and commercial developments we can promote, and, although we may have difficulties to contend with in this line of exertion, arising partly from our unsettled political status, yet we have every incentive to turn our unrivalled resources to account, and we can enter upon the work not only with hope, but with assurrance of success. One thing is very certain. If we do not put our hands to it in the way we ought, our situation, instead of getting better and better, will become worse and worse. Let us then devote ourselves to the cultivation of our lands, the fertilization of our fields, the building up of the waste places, and GEORGE E. WHITE. in short to the pursuits of industry and enterprise, in all their branches. This is our true policy. - Petersburg Express.

DISTRESSING. -On Monday night Mr. Mc-Kean Buchanan and his daughter Virginia, were announced for "Hamlet" at Terre Haute, Ind. Mrs. Buchanan was at the time lying very dangerously ill at the Terre Haute House, of neuralgia of the heart. After the first scene it was anounced that Miss B. would not be able to appear as Ophelia, on account of her mother's sickness, and if the play went on her part would have to be omitted. The audience desired the play to proceed, but when Mr. Buchanan appeared, and commenced the solilo-quy, "To be or not to be," he had not proceeded half a dozen lines when his faltering voice broke and falling into a chair, he exclaimed, "My wife is dying-take your money-run down the curtain-I camot play!" and the audience dispersed. Mrs. Buchanan was dead when her husband reached the hotel. - Indi. paper.
